Plates 2, 3, 6 and 23d are the reproduced by permission of the National Monuments Record; Plates 28a and b and Plate 50, by permission of the British Library; Plates 51, 52, 53, a and b, by permission of Trinity College, Cambridge. Plate 54 is taken from a copy of an engraving in the possession of the office of the Clerk of Works at Salisbury Cathedral. I am grateful to Kate Harris for Plates 19 and 45, to Peter Fairweather for Plate 36a, to Judith Prendergast for Plate 46, to David O'Connor for Plate 49, and to the late John Denmead for Plate 37b. Plate 37a is the copywright of the Society of Antiquaries of London. All other photographs were taken by the author and Bryan Sadler. The brass rubbings are all in the possession of the Society of Antiquaries of London, with the exception of Plate 14c, and the brass in Plate 12 is in the possession of Norwich Castle Museum. I am grateful for access to these and for the co-operation of all vicars and churchwardens who have made it possible to photograph most of the tombs in situ.
