Composer's Note

afterglow II is a piece about shadows, shifting perspectives, and things obscured from view. It is the third in a trio of works: it transforms material from Ex Umbra..., for solo clarinet, which was recorded by Dov Goldberg for Psappha ensemble in May 2023, and follows afterglow I, another related work for clarinet, cello, and piano. All of the works in this set relate to a common musical line; however, each make their own individual exploration of the energy within the line. The extent to which that line can be heard varies significantly from piece to piece, depending on particularities of shape, form, and desires for musical momentum.

When making afterglow II, I took the line as heard in Ex Umbra..., and shared it out across the ensemble. Then, I imagined I could stop time and ‘zoom in’, to explore suspended, frozen, fractal moments within the line, that go unheard in the solo and trio pieces.
